Dear Recruiter,

I'm writing to inquire about the opening for a job position within your organization.

Having spent the last 3 years pursuing my Software Engineering degree, I have gained a great deal of experience while working on several different projects which make me believe that I am a strong candidate for this position.

Previously I have had coursework that covers heavy material concerning computer programming and software design. The portion below details briefly the experience I have obtained in the preceding years.

- Language specific projects such as Python, C/C++, and Java
- Developed user-friendly and aesthetically pleasing web applications
- Worked with a team of 4 to create a reliable game database application using SQL, Angular and an API
- Gained significant knowledge of various algorithms and data structures

My studies have enabled me to demonstrate my ability to produce quality work on both familiar and unfamiliar tasks. Should I be offered this position, I would be able to gain valuable experience and build skills in various areas with the organization.

I'd welcome the opportunity to speak with you if you feel that I am a strong applicant for this position.

Sincerely,

Jad Eletry
